

... Oh I don't believe in accidents
Miracles, they don't just happen by chance
As long as my God holds the world in his hands
I know that there's no such thing as unplanned...
(Matthew West lyrics)

Dear Loving Mommy,

Hi! My name is Tracy and I live in Georgia. I am so thankful that you are reading my profile and considering me for the mommy to be. I know your decision to place your baby for adoption is probably the hardest decision that you have ever made in your life and that you are doing it out of pure love. I promise you your baby will know that too.

Life rarely works out the way we think it will. For me life threw me a curve ball but through it all I have become stronger. I don't see it as unfortunate that I never birthed children but rather by God's design.

If you choose me, I can promise you that I will raise this precious gift attentively with unconditional love and will be completely committed to their personhood - always thinking of what is best for them and nurturing them to be all they can possibly be. They will be raised as givers and people who contribute positively to society and seek to make a difference.

I hope you will read through my profile and I pray for God to show you and to give you perfect peace of your choice of placement. (And thank you for choosing life!)

Dear Expectant Mommy,

Your journey has brought you to a fork in the road. It's not that you don't want your baby. You do. But for whatever reason you ultimately came to this "place" where you feel that what is best for your child is to have a life different than what you can provide, and you choose adoption. You know that you have been led here to this place but the uncertainties you feel causes you much anguish. You believe with all your heart that your contemplation of placing your precious bundle up for adoption is the right choice but still how will you know you chose the right Mommy? I pray for God to show you and to give you perfect peace.

is me - waiting on us...

My Beloved Twins - Former Fosterers - I Found My Life When I Laid It Down

Life rarely works out the way we think it will. For me life through me a curve ball but through it all I have become stronger. I don't see it as unfortunate that I never birthed children but rather by God's design. An unknown author said, "No, I didn't give you the gift of life, Life gave me the gift of you."

The Twins were with me straight from the hospital and in my life until 8 ½ months. I was told there was no family to take them and I was planning on adopting them and a family member changed her mind when she saw how they both are brilliant and awesome and was granted custody.

I can promise you that I will raise your precious gift attentively with unconditional love and will be completely committed to their personhood - always thinking of what is best for them and nurturing them to be all they can possibly be. They will be raised as givers and people who contribute positively to society and seek to make a difference. Probably one of the greatest traits that I will model for this precious life is that there's no such thing as impossible and it's always too soon to quit. Belief and perseverance is the key to a successful life and success can be demonstrated in many forms.

I felt that there was someone else that was supposed to join the family and I was with several agencies and affiliates when I was chosen by a birth mom and adopted Jaden.

I enjoy yard work and gardening.

Fun Out & at Home...

Trunk or Treat

A work week typically keeps me close to home but still much fun can be had on stroller walks or backyard swings or just talking back and forth with “I love you”.

Of course later as they grow it will be homework and extracurricular activities.

I believe in nutritious meals so my sister and I usually cook. Mealtime togetherness is important to me.

Weekends entail errands and fun outings such as the park, golf cart rides, or time with extended family and friends. Whatever age or stage I can promise you the focus and priority will be on them. I have much to offer. I have been blessed and believe that those blessings are meant to share.

Currently in the Covid pandemic I have been working from home since March, now end of June and activities are centered at home.

Lisa (below) - is the sister who lives with me and works in daycare.

Currently Lisa continues as my nanny.
